- 00:02 The video introduces a powerful message by Monroe Global, focusing on transforming followers into leaders and agents of change.
- 00:14 The topic of discussion is "the kingdom and the great commission," emphasizing the church's mission as the year begins.
- 00:55 The church's responsibility and original mission will be explored, detailing its foundations and purpose.
- 01:50 Jesus established the church to facilitate global restoration and redemption, serving as a mechanism for His mission.
- 02:17 The speaker contrasts the church's role with that of the United Nations, indicating the latter's inefficacy in preventing wars.
- 02:24 Since the UN's formation, more wars have occurred, proving its limitations in restoring world peace.
- 06:17 The UN's entrance features a scripture from Isaiah, highlighting an attempt to achieve peace without divine guidance.
- 06:50 Jesus is described as the "Prince of Peace," indicating that true peace can only come through Him.
- 08:11 The importance of redemption and restoration is emphasized; restoration cannot occur without redemption.
- 09:14 Jesus's mission was misunderstood by the Jews, who expected a military leader rather than a humble servant.
- 11:06 Jesus's death was a necessary act of redemption, allowing humanity to return to a relationship with God.
- 12:29 After redeeming humanity, Jesus established the church to continue His work on Earth.
- 13:20 The church is tasked with making disciples of all nations, as instructed by Jesus in Matthew 28.
- 14:42 The church consists of individuals who are called to confirm their faith through baptism and discipleship.
- 17:22 The church and the kingdom are distinct entities; the kingdom existed before the church was established.
- 22:36 The church emerged as a response to humanity's fall in Genesis 3, highlighting its redemptive nature.
- 24:05 The speaker clarifies that the church is not equivalent to the kingdom, which predates it and has different implications.
- 26:58 God's aim is to influence Earth through mankind, using the Holy Spirit to guide and empower believers.
- 29:22 The UN's attempts at peace are futile without God's presence, emphasizing the need for divine intervention.

- 30:42 The Holy Spirit is essential for representing God's kingdom on Earth, as humanity lost this connection after the fall.
- 34:10 Jesus's mission included restoring the Holy Spirit to humanity, highlighting the importance of holiness for representation.
- 40:43 Unlike Abraham's limited promises, Jesus offers a broader vision of dominion over the entire planet.
- 41:25 The kingdom of heaven refers to God's domain, while the kingdom of God represents His influence over territories.
- 46:40 Believers are encouraged to identify areas in their lives and communities that need to come under God's influence.
- 57:21 The video concludes inviting viewers to continue exploring their purpose through Monroe Global's resources and events.
